PETE SAUER AND
TOM GRANT WILL MEET FOR THIRD
MATCH TONIGHT

Tom Grant and Pete Sauer will meet for the third time tonight in a grappling contest to determine who can lay claim to the title of local favorite.

In the first meeting the pair wrestled three hours and 15 minutes to a draw and the second time Pete won the decision after Grant injured his arm.

Tonight's match will be held in the dance hall at the Capital City arena. Seating accommodations have been provided for 500 fans and the hall will be comfortably heated.

In his own words Grant says: "I think I can beat Sauer, but I know I can't beat him easily. No man can. I believe that he's a far better man than the people here give him credit for."

"Since we wrestled last he has improved and so have I. The question now is who's improved the most and added the biggest stock of knowledge."

The fact that Grant says he has wrestled 60 matches since he last met Pete in this city and never lost a match is pretty good evidence that he hasn't neglected his wrestling education.

In explaining his losing to Sauer in Phoenix Grant says he lost the second fall of the match through a combination of crotch and flying leg hold and that when he hit the mat he knocked him partly unconscious from which he had not fully recovered when time was called for the third fall. He also says the August heat in Phoenix was something that he was unaccustomed to, but with cool weather prevailing and the most ten days training in Phoenix behind him Grant says he is in perfect condition to give Pete the biggest match of his life and offer no excuses if the Phoenix favorite is able to down him.

Grant wrestles at 190 pounds and Sauer at about 152, so there is little to choose between them on size.

Among the most noted of the Western men he has defeated during the year without losing a bout are Frank Lamarque, the Canadian heavyweight champion, whom he defeated in Spokane about a year ago. Last August he put the Indian sign on R. Elson, the Canadian light heavyweight champion in Lethbridge, Canada, and on the fourth of last July pinned Bruce Rollan, Pacific coast heavyweight champion to the mat.

Pete, who recently lost a match to George Kotsanos through injury, has completely recovered and has been working out for several weeks and reports his condition as being A-1. The rest from training while letting his injury heal being just what he needed.

Pete scoffs at the idea that he has ducked out of any matches with Grant and says he will convince the Phoenix fans, who had come to believe him almost invincible in his own home town, that he can throw Grant tonight by doing just that little thing. He agrees that Tom is a tough customer. The fact that they went three hours to a draw shows that, but then as Pete says, "I have met them just as plenty," carries a lot of hidden meaning.

SPEAKING ABOUT TRICK
PLAYS, READ THIS ONE

Trick plays always add a thrill to football. Glenn Warner, when in charge of the Carlisle Indians, always had the "Braves" doing something out of the ordinary. Since taking charge of the University of Pittsburgh athletes, Warner has continued to pull something different every now and then.

Here is the story of a former eastern college star tells, and it makes good reading. Possibly it was pulled successfully. However, a lot of officials would have ruled against the play, on the theory that action was suspended during the making of the protest. Here is the story as told by the former star who coached a small team in the west last year: "My quarterback, whenever he saw fit, would complain to the referee that the opposing team was offside, or holding and therefore deserving of a penalty. Of course, the official would take no heed of his plea. Then the player, apparently quite perturbed, would declare, 'All right, I'll take the distance myself.' Accordingly, he would begin pacing off the yards, and once clear, would start and sprint for the goal. My team got away with it a half dozen times during the season."

ENGINEERS ENDORSE
GIRAND SELECTION OF EUGENE HACKETT

Endorsing the selection of James B. Girand as engineer in charge of the Cave Creek control works, Phoenix chapter of the American Association of Engineers yesterday adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, James B. Girand has been selected by the board of governors of the Cave Creek flood control as their supervising engineer, and

Whereas, Mr. Girand is an engineer well qualified by training and experience to supervise such construction, and

Whereas, Mr. Girand is a resident of the state of Arizona and one for many years vitally interested in the state's development,

Be it therefore resolved that the Phoenix chapter of the American Association of Engineers do hereby endorse the action of the board of governors of Cave Creek flood control in their selection of Mr. Girand as supervising engineer.

ORDER REDUCTIONS IN MAY, GRAIN RATE

If the railroads doing business in the western and interior states do not get out of their own accord put in the hay and grain rates which the interstate commerce commission some weeks ago held to be reasonable, it will be done for them on December 27. That information reached the office of the state corporation commission yesterday in a telegram from John Benton, general solicitor for the National Association of Railway Commissioners, at Washington, D. C.

The hay and grain rate hearing took place at Washington last August and a decision holding the existing rates to be excessive was rendered in October. No order was made at that time, the railroads being given an opportunity to comply with the terms of the decision.

As no action was taken by the roads, the commission yesterday issued an order that the new rates be put in not later than December 27 or at an earlier date, on a notice of five days.

The decision directed that the rates on these commodities should be reduced one-half the last increase in rates granted on them a year ago. The reduction varies as to the different groups of states affected by the hay and grain rates, amounting generally to a reduction of 20 per cent from the existing rates.

A slight change was ordered by the state commission yesterday on intrastate rates on fertilizers by the inclusion of the classification of coal dust and other commodities.

OMAR TOFT WAS NOT
BORN IN DENMARK

Omar Toft whose unfortunate death occurred in a tragic manner in Phoenix recently, was not born in Denmark, according to the story in the Republic at the time of the accident. The following correction was received from Mrs. Mary Clark of Moberly, Mo., a cousin and a member of the family in which Omar was raised:

"I am writing you in regard to an article in the Republic concerning the tragic death of our beloved cousin, Omar Toft. Omar's father was born in Denmark, but Omar was born in Sturgeon, Mo. His mother died when he was 2 years old and he was reared by his aunt, Mrs. Rebecca Fletcher, his mother's sister, until he was 8 years old. Then his father took him to Germany where he remained until he was 16 years old. He then returned to his aunt, who had moved to Moberly.

"Omar's mother was born and raised in Sturgeon and Omar has several cousins there. In this aunt's home were five other children, four of whom survive Omar, I being one of them."

BOXING RECORDS SHOW ANDERSON IS OLDER THAN
THAM LANGFORD

Matchmaker Hays announced last night that Sam Langford and his manager, Jim Mullen, will arrive in Phoenix this morning to prepare for his bout with Lee Anderson Thanksgiving morning.

Langford will work at the Capital City arena this afternoon at 6 o'clock if he reaches the city before noon. Anderson will train at the same place at 5 p. m.

Ben Dobbert stated last night that Anderson would end his training with tonight's workout as the colored champion is in perfect condition and he is going ahead with his advance booking with the expectation that Lee will beat the Boston Tar Baby.

A match with Harry Greb or Tommy Gibbons would not be a bad idea if Anderson beats Langford. Gibbons has stated that he can not find opponents and Anderson might fill in for the heavyweight contender. If Langford beats Anderson match the tar baby with either Greb or Gibbons. So long as the fighters are here and the game is on the rise the fans might as well ask for the best.

The Capital City boxing card will be held at 11 o'clock in the morning to give the fans a chance to get some for the turkey feed.

Three high class preliminaries will be staged to keep the fans excited before the Langford-Anderson bout.

Sam Langford is a big attraction himself and the fact that he is meeting the colored champion will draw many out of town fans to Phoenix. Langford is the most feared fighter in the game today. He is not the old man he is said to be although his exact age is not known. The record book admits that Sam does not know his own age and gives his opinion that he is 37. He started fighting in 1902 and has been fighting ever since. Anderson's age is said to be 41 which gives Sam the edge on the age side of the argument.

Sam has been fighting several years longer than Anderson, but Lee has been making his record in the last three years. The pair have met four times and Anderson holds three decisions over Langford. The fifth time should be conclusive and settle the argument for keeps.

The preliminary boys will work at the arena this afternoon with both Langford and Anderson.

DODGE IS A WHOPPER
Captain Dodge is the Cornell team is one of the biggest men playing football in the east. He measures six feet six inches and weighs in the neighborhood of 225.

These valuations are fixed by the decision for taxation for state and county purposes, and they have been accepted by all such towns except Yuma. There, therefore, appeared nothing to be done for the company to go into court and endeavor to show that the assessment made by the Yuma assessor was unreasonable high.

Clarence P. Woodbury, secretary of the real estate department, has been covering a portion of the state in connection with his work. The towns visited in the last two months were Tucson, Douglas, Bisbee, Nogales, Yuma and Casa Grande. In all these towns, Mr. Woodbury reports there is some activity in real estate. Nearly 400 licenses have been issued by the state real estate department, covering both brokers and salesmen, since the license law became effective. Several cases have also been brought before the department and action taken regarding same.

The real estate license act is now effective in a great many states.

Today's Sport Angle

The records show that a team to win a pennant must be able to defeat its strongest contender.

That theory certainly held good in both major league races last season. The Yankees won in the American league because they consistently beat Cleveland. The Giants won in the National league because Pittsburgh proved easy.
